NEW CHILD CARE LICENSING STAFF

- Hi, my name is Azur (with no 'e') Walters. I joined the Child Care Licensing Unit in March, 2016. My role is Quality Assurance Specialist. I’m also known within the unit as the “Entertainment Director” as I plan the unit functions we do for fun during non-working hours. I look forward to helping you make your programs the safest, most successful program possible.

- Hi, my name is Kari Bullard. I have been with Hennepin County for 6 years now and with Child Care Licensing since June 2016. My caseload right now is primarily Renewals, however, I will also be working with the Intake Team, as well. I strive to create a partnership with my providers focusing on open lines of communication - and questions are always welcome. I look forward to working with you to make your childcare program the best that it can be!

- Hello, my name is Nicole Rice. I joined the Child Care Licensing Unit in January 2016 as a Renewal Licensor. Here at Hennepin County, we work to improve the lives of people within our community. I look forward to working with you to make your programs safe, successful endeavors!

- Hi. My name is Suzette Bechly, and I am a renewal licensor for Family Child Care. I have worked in Hennepin County for about 13 years, but am new to the Child Care licensing area. Previously, I worked in Child Protection. I’m a mother of two teenage children myself, and I appreciate what our providers are doing for the little ones! Through your fabulous efforts, they are safe, happy, and inspired. I look forward to my renewal visits, and I can’t wait to meet you!

- My name is Padee Yang and I joined the Child Care team in February of 2016. Prior to joining the team I was working as a Child Protection Social Worker for over 16 years. I enjoy being a part of work that can impact the lives of young children. I believe in building a healthy and safe foundation in the community, and that it starts with our children. I look forward to meeting providers and working together to maintain and improve the quality of child care.
Ready for Renewal is Back!

The Child Care Licensing 'Ready for Renewal' training resumed at the end of October, 2016. About thirty-six people attended.

Here is some of the positive feedback given by attendees:

- I wish I had this training information 3 years ago when I first began. I believe all new providers would greatly benefit from this class. It would clarify a lot and lessen the stress we experience in trying to learn all the requirements. Thanks!

- Good job getting me prepared for my renewal. I feel comfortable with the things that are expected of me at my renewal.

- This is so important. I went to the last renewal many years ago and found it to be very helpful. I am pleased to see that you have begun to do this training annually. Glad you made the point to have folks ask very specific questions afterwards. Not all respected this. Very good very organized.

What is Ready for Renewal?

Everything from when to start sending in your forms to when to expect your license from DHS. Licensing staff have put together a basic outline that we hope to develop using feedback from providers. A work in progress, we hope to bring you this training at least once a year. Our next class should be this spring!

Please take a moment to think about the renewal process itself, what information you have learned as a veteran provider, or the questions you’ve found yourself asking before that first renewal. Mail your questions to us at:

Egress Windows

Did you know a window counts as an emergency exit? Whether on the ground floor or a window well, windows are often the required second exit for most daycare spaces. Here are some basic things to remember about your egress window:

The window must open!

Whether the window slides up, swings in or out—it needs to open! Windows can become stuck if not opened occasionally, so take a moment to make sure your window opens easily!

Window wells can fill up with debris quickly...

Leaves, branches, twigs, even small animals can fall into your window well and, before you know it, obstruct or even block the proper use of your emergency escape route! Make sure your window well is free of debris, before the snow hits!

Don’t block your escape route!

We hope you never have to do so, but in the event you and your children need to get out of the home, the last thing you want is a blocked exit! Take a look at your intended escape route: can you (or your program children) get to the window from the inside? Is anything blocking the free-movement of the window, from the outside? Taking a few minutes now to make sure could make a world of difference in the future.

FACTS

- Egress Window-wells over 44 inches deep are REQUIRED to have a ladder installed.
- Each room approved for child care must have TWO means of escape.
- One means of escape MUST be a door leading to the “floor of exit discharge.”
- The second means of escape MUST be a door or window leading directly outside.
- If a window, the second exit MUST be openable without “special knowledge.”
- Any window used as an exit MUST have a clear opening of no less than 5.7 square feet.
- Any window used as an exit MUST have a minimum clear opening dimension of 20 inches wide and 24 inches high.
- Getting a window installed or replaced? Talk to us first—there are state and local fire codes to consider!
Kid’s Corner: WINTER IS COMING

Here are some outdoor activities you can do with the kids this winter...

Old Fashioned Pine Cone Bird Feeder - This activity is sure to bring back memories of your own childhood, and has kids working with different substances and textures in a constructive way. Gather up the kiddos and go outside for a pine cone hunt. Don’t have any Evergreen trees? No worries, you can purchase pinecones at your local arts and crafts store and hide them in the yard the day before. To make the bird feeder, simply coat the pine cones in peanut butter (use almond, sunflower, or cashew butter if food allergies are a concern) and roll them in assorted bird seed. Attach a piece of bright colored yarn around the top end of the pine cone and hang them on a tree. You can then watch the birds come, and make a game of counting how many birds come to feed. Older kids could try to identify the types of birds that come to feed. CAUTION: Supervision should be ensured to make sure little one’s do not try to eat fallen seeds while playing outside.

Make Snow Sculptures - If snows falls in abundance, bundle you kids and have them lie down and wave their arms and legs to make snow angels. Or try rolling balls of snow to build snowmen. Some like to get creative with the whole snowmen idea and create snow animals, snow families, and so on. Another trick is to leave the heads off the creations, so kids can stand behind them and add their own faces. You could then take their picture and give it to the parents for a fun holiday card/gift.

Make Ice Art - Freeze water colored with food coloring into blocks and other shapes, using ice cube trays, muffin tins, Jell-O molds, and old yogurt containers (This step is more easily done in your freezer, but you can also try it outdoors.) Then bring your colorful ice blocks outside, along with any natural ice and snow you can collect, to create your own ice sculptures. In sub-freezing temperatures, you can stick the pieces together by dribbling water on them—it should quickly freeze them in place.

What Are Parents Saying About You?

Ever wonder what the parents using your program say about you? Here is a small sample of the comments we have received in the last few months about your childcare programs

What does this provider do well?

- “Communication, individual attention and care, great two-way dialogue and advice about children’s care.”
- “Attentive, caring, reliable, knowledgeable.”
- “Friendly patient, appropriate discipline.”

Why did you choose this provider?

- “Location, price and seemed friendly and low number of children in the daycare.”

What could this Provider Do Better?

- “Healthier snacks/food, more learning/teaching activities.”
- “I’d like to see more planned activities and less free play time.”
- “I wish the hours were better, it’s hard for me to always get there on time before closing.”

WINTER SAFETY

FROST BITE / FROST NIP

Frost bite means frozen tissue. Frost nip is a milder form of frost bite, but can still cause injury. Day care children are more likely to get “frost nip.” Frost nip occurs where any skin is exposed to the cold like cheeks, fingers, feet, nose, and ears. To minimize exposure to cold, make sure children’s skin is not exposed, by wearing mittens (instead of gloves), hats that cover ears, and scarves that cover cheeks and nose.

To minimize frost nip exposure:

In the event that any clothing gets wet, bring the child inside and remove all wet clothing immediately.

Do not use heating pads or hot water to rapidly heat the skin. It is best to use warm water to slowly bring the child’s skin back to normal temperature.

If normal sensation does not return, seek medical attention.

Food Program

It is a federally funded program that pays licensed family child care providers to serve nutritious meals and snacks to the children in their care.

You will receive nutrition education so the children in your care will get healthy meals and snacks. Nutritious food contributes to the wellness, healthy growth and development of young children.

You report each month the number of meals and snacks served to the children in your care. Then the Food Program will send you a check to pay for the cost of the food. If you serve one breakfast, one lunch and one snack each day you receive about $564 or $1,170 per child from the Food Program each year.

You are always better off financially if you join the Food Program. The money you receive is taxable income, but the cost of the food you serve is tax deductible. For every $1000 you receive from the Food Program, you can expect to keep about $600—$700 in your pocket after taxes.

Most providers spend less than 3 hours per week on Food Program paperwork. If you care for four children you will be earning about $14 or $30 per hour for your time! That's more than you earn per hour caring for children.

Incident Reporting

Whether it is a fall, a bump, or something worse as a licensed family child care provider you are required to report the incident to your licensing worker.

With technological advances, Hennepin County Child Care Licensing we are now able to provide you with an electronic Incident Reporting form that you may use. This form permits you to a) type the information into the form; and b) submit the form via e-mail. The form permits you to include your own email address so that you may send a copy to yourself, as well.

You can locate the new Incident Reporting form on our website at www.hennepin.us/childcare.
   1) Click on “For Current Providers.”
   2) Look under “Forms for Business Use.”

If you would like to continue mailing the Incident Reporting form to our office, you may do so at:

Hennepin County Human Services & Public Health Department
Child Care Licensing
Attn: (Your Licensing Worker’s Name)
300 South Sixth Street, Mail Code 711
