Core Products International, Inc., began because Phil Mattison, founder and president, had a sore neck. Upon learning that his discomfort stemmed from an improper sleeping position, he began working with his chiropractor to develop a new kind of spinal support pillow. Since the successful launch of its first pillow product in 1988, Core has developed or acquired several other cervical support pillows. Over the years, Core has expanded beyond pillows to offer innovative orthopedic supports and braces, hot and cold therapy products, OTC electrotherapy units, massage products, and more. Core products are manufactured in the United States and Canada.
