Mains’I

Questions & Answers

1) Are employees required to have a driver’s license?
   a. Employees working the first shift are required to have a driver’s license to transport clients to appointments.
   b. A driver’s license is not required for the other shifts.

2) Do employees need to have their own vehicles to transport clients?
   a. We have company vehicles, but it is recommended that employees have their own car for emergency situations where the company vehicle may be in use and they need to take the person they support somewhere. But it isn’t required. If they don’t have their own vehicle, we would try to put them somewhere there are employees who have their personal cars.
